Commissioner Chilcott attended a community workshop in Corvallis entitled 'Urban Sprawl Fire Wise'.

The Board met to discuss a labor negotiation timetable and contract issues with Jeff Minckler. Human Resources Director Skip Rosenthal was also present for this meeting. In regard to the issue of Jeff's contract it was noted the current contract is in effect until July of next year. This contract was a two-year contract which allowed some costs savings for the County. Commissioner Thompson asked if there was any cost savings if the contract was paid up front rather than the normal payments in January and July.

Jeff stated he would give a 3% discount if the monies for service were paid up front. The Board agreed to wait until they visited with Commissioner Chilcott to make a decision.

Skip asked which Commissioner will handle the contract negotiations for the Deputies, Road and 9-1-1. Commissioner Thompson indicated they will need to visit this issue when the three new Commissioners take their seats. Discussion also took place in regard to a long term contract and what cost savings could be anticipated.

In other business the Board interviewed the following citizens for positions on the Streamside Setback Committee: Kielian DeWitt, Dan Mayer, George Marshall and Thomas Parker.
